

Contents

The Country and the City

edited by Agnes Kneitz

Introduction

Connecting People and Places in History – Donald Worster 4

Research articles

Tokyo Bay as a productive landscape – Jordan Sand 13

Water management, transport, and the development of market towns in the Lake Tai region, eleventh–sixteenth centuries – Xie Shi 36

Growing hungry: The politics of food distribution and the shifting boundaries between urban and rural in Dar es Salaam – Emily Brownell 58

Social renewal through the rural: Agricultural cooperatives in South Korea as a form of critiquing capitalism – Albert L. Park 82

Interweaving country and city in the urban design of Savannah, Georgia – David Gobel 108

Urban air pollution and The Country and the City – William Cavert 149

Making garbage, making land, making cities: A global history of waste in and out of place – Sarah Hill 165

The public lavatory of Tianjin: A change of urban faeces disposal in the process of modernisation – Cao Mu 196

From factory to field: Waste-water irrigation in China's early socialist cities – Alana Boland 219

Special features

Are cities sustainable? A discussion of urban metabolism in Europe, past and future – Christof Mauch, Dieter Schott 240

Green dreams: Integrating agriculture into China's metropolises – Agnes Kneitz 256

Abstracts

272

Author biographies

277